What if my quartet expires before my regional competition date?

As long as your quartet is in good standing by the end of the fiscal year (April 30) you will not be disqualified from regional competition that year. (We consider regional competition part of the previous fiscal year because it begins in that time period.) You can pay your quartet's renewal before your competition, but if you don't, you will not be penalized. If you do not renew before July 31 your quartet registration will be cancelled.

How do I change my quartet name?

New Quartets: Quartet name changes are accepted three months after the initial registration date.

Existing Quartets: Quartets may change their name anytime between May 1–July 31 (the Quartet Renewal period).

Explain the quartet name approval process?

We are concerned with not only how a name is spelled but also how it sounds because of the confusion that could ensue when referencing the group. For example: should two quartets (or choruses) with similar names compete in the same competition, or if "chorus" or "quartet" is left off of the name during an announcement — would the intended group be unanimously understood by the audience?

SingUnited International uses the following criteria for approving quartet names:

- Is there already a chorus or quartet with the same spelled name?
- Is there already a chorus or quartet with the same sounding name?
- Is the name a difference of adding "the" to the beginning or pluralizing by adding an "s"?

How do I check quartet name availability?

Quartet Name Search

To check quartet name availability, please enter your preferred quartet name in the search field and click the search button. The system will find all names that match (or are similar to) your search in both spelling and sound.

If your search reveals no similar name, email quartet@singunited.org to confirm your name is available.

What does it mean when there is a "hold" on a name?

A "hold" placed on a name means the name is unavailable because it is in use by an active quartet. Holds are placed on quartet names when a quartet places in a regional or international competition. The holding of a name extends for various amounts of time based on the degree of placement. For example, when a quartet becomes the International Champion Quartet, their name becomes permanently on hold whether the quartet is active or not.

International Champion Quartets (List of Unavailable Names)

Some quartet names are protected for various periods, depending on the quartet's placement at regional or international competition. Protected quartet names are not available until the release date.

Once a quartet becomes the International Champion Quartet, their quartet name is retired or protected permanently. This rule applies even if the quartet is no longer active.

Why do all quartets have "Quartet" after their name?

All quartets have the word "quartet" inserted after their name for filing purposes at headquarters as a way to distinguish quartets from choruses in our database. However, most quartets leave off the "quartet" when being introduced or performing.

May I be a member of (and compete with) multiple quartets?

SingUnited members can belong to an infinite number of registered quartets.

Quartet members may compete in up to two different quartets during the same regional contest as long as they are in different competition divisions (e.g., one quartet in International Division and one in Open Division).

No more than two members per quartet may compete in the second quartet in the same regional or international contest.

From a public relations and social media perspective, we recommend including "quartet" in all correspondence including your official username on social media channels.
